

A graduate of the B. A. study course "History with specialization in education" possesses complex specialized knowledge of the discipline of history. His priority is the contiguous M. A. study of teaching history. In his Bachelor of Arts capacity, he will find employment in state- and public administration, antiquities' service, in museums, galleries and in memory institutions.

The study course "History with specialization in education" is a B. A. course offering specialized education in history. Together with its contiguous M. A. course "Teaching the general-education subjects for basic- and high schools - History", it represents the B. A. segment of preparation of history teachers for basic- and high schools. As a specialized study course, it is aimed at museum-, gallery-, and memory-institution lecturers, as well as at a wide range of public-administration agents and antiquities' service officers who need specialized knowledge of history in their professions.