

Graduate acquires profound knowledge and skills in main disciplines of psychology, involving counselling and school psychology, clinical psychology and developmental psychology. He is skilled in psychological research and possesses thorough practical experience gained through the residency in different institutions offering psychological service. The acquired knowledge and skills meet the requirements of the European Certificate in Psychology.